

McDonald's Coffee Mugs

Two Anchor Hocking Milk Glass 1982
McDonald's Many Happy Returns Coffee Mugs

Description:

1982 Anchor Hocking McDonald's "Many Happy Returns" milk glass coffee mugs. These two mugs are in excellent condition. Oven proof - Made in U.S.A. Numbers 70 & 312 on bottom. I think you can still take these into McDonald's for free coffee. Symbols represent all year long. Snowflake, spring flower, summer sun and fall leaf. Brilliant colors and really no signs of usage. Mugs stand 3 1/2" tall and 2 1/2" diameter bottom.

Winning Bid:

$76.⁵⁵/2

Ended: 1/14/07

History: 18 bids

Starting Bid: $9.99

Winner: Honolulu, HI

Viewed

000118 X

McDonald's Coffee Mugs

Micki's Story (eBay ID: Mickademous)

I will have to say what started this all was this jardinière I bought at a garage sale on August 3, 2006. Why do I remember the date? My daughter had a doctor appointment on that day and I was on my way to take her back to day care when I decided to stop at a garage sale along the way.

It was about noon and I spotted this jardinière from the curb. I got my daughter out of the truck and went up to it. It was marked $10 and just beautiful colors. I knew it was old from the markings on the bottom. The lady having the sale said she believes her great grandmother brought it back from Europe. It had a castle on the bottom with Bonn and some other marking. It looked like new!!

I took it to a free appraisal at an Antique store. They said it looks like it is from 1880s and pre-Royal Bonn. They gave me an appraisal of $750.00. My husband couldn't believe it, and I am still in shock! I plan on keeping it for now, but it is just an awesome piece and in fantastic condition.

I decided to do a lot of research and start selling my findings on eBay. I sold a Blenko vase for my sister for $316.00 that she had bought at an estate sale for $15.00. I was able to identify the artist and when it was made. Research helps the item sell! With four kids and remodeling a ranch house they just bought, it came in handy for her.

I have both of your books and love them! They are a great help to me. More than anything I love the hunt for the treasure and have my husband and parents starting to hunt for me also. My two-year-old daughter goes with me, and is pretty good at picking up items and flipping them over to see who made it. "Two hands!" she reminds me when I go to pick up an item. I'm starting her young!!

