Scott and Veva's Story (eBay ID: warmsun4me)

Hi Lynn,

We are having a blast selling on eBay! Thanks for all your help through Boot Camp in a Box and your ezine! Here is one of the many stories we have to tell about our eBay experience...

Where do you get items to sell on eBay? Garage Sales, Estate Sales, Tag Sales, you just always have to be on the lookout. While scanning the Miscellaneous Items For Sale in our local newspaper, one ad caught my attention: Menus, 50-plus, International, Cruises $15.00.

I was curious and I gave the seller a call. She said there was a tubful from her travels over the years. I told her I would be interested in seeing them. My first thought was of course that I might be able to sell them on eBay, but if not, maybe they would be unique enough to use to decorate my kitchen.

It took a few weeks to receive them. She had lost my number and was out of town on business. I decided to arrange for my husband to meet with her and buy them sight unseen. There were 74 total menus and they weren't as beautiful as I was hoping. But...you never know what sells on eBay. So I listed some and you know what happens next - several SOLD. The best so far was the one from Jamaica in the West Indies that sold for $63.99. 74 divided by $15.00 equals 20 cents apiece. Ka-ching! We love eBay!
