

Green Streak Gas Sign

$8.00/2
Paid
From: Estate sale

1930s Green Streak Gasoline Sign a Shell Product

Description:

1930s Green Streak Gasoline A Shell Product gas station sign. The sign is approx 12-13" across. Rivets in the holes. No scratches. These come from someone who had worked for Shell Oil in the 1930s-1950s.

Winning Bid:

$6,400.00/2

Viewed

00700+ X

Ended: 8/07
History: ? bids
Starting Bid: $9.99
Winner: Illinois

Green Streak Gas Sign

Ann's Story (eBay ID azcomebuy)

I went to a estate/yard sale about six weeks ago. Tons of Shell products that others were finding. All sorts of Shell products. A guy thing.

The sign is approx 12-13" across. Rivets in the holes. No scratches. There were 2 of them. I paid four dollars each. Other Gasoline signs sell for $40-$50. When the dust settled, $3,400.00 on one and $3,000.00 for the second one. Both went to the same man.

The husband of the estate sale lady had worked for Shell Oil in the 1930s-1950s. I decided to look through some magazines. These signs were in among them.

I sold them to a young man of 43 years who lives in Granite City, Illinois outside of St. Louis. He is constructing a non-working filling station on his property. These signs will go in the filling station. The signs were from the 1930s, the auctions had over 700 watchers... I forget how many bids...God was good to me. It will never happen again. :-)

We pay most of my daughter's mortgage in Iowa. Two children, one is autistic.

I have been selling on Ebay for seven years and am just now catching on...I am 73 yrs old. I used to teach school.

I went to an eBay University in Phoenix a few Years ago with Griff.

I love your books and weekly ezine. You have helped me more than you know. I belong to a group called the eBay Ladies, of all things. We meet the second Monday of every month for breakfast and "Show and Tell."

Lynn you are top-notch and an inspiration. Thanks so much.
Ann in Tucson.

